

Competition: 'Get it Write!'

A good story engages our curiosity, emotions and imagination. They can grab and maintain our attention, and help to us to understand and remember important messages.

We want YOU to use the power of storytelling to create a story to put across a message about one of the topics in Science4Society Week 2022.

Climate change, buildings and energy This could be about the impact of burning fossil fuels, or about renewable energy.	Climate change, food and nutrition This could be about the impact of our diets, or about cutting down on food waste.
Climate change, consumption and waste This could be about buying less, or buying better so things last longer.	Climate change, science and peace This could be about how conflicts happen due to changes in the weather as a result of climate change.
Globally Responsible Careers in STEM This could be about someone's career in designing energy efficient housing.

All entries must include: ✓ Entrant name, age, and age category ✓ School, club or youth group name and address	Age categories: 7-11 12-14 15-18	The winning entry will: ✓ Receive a certificate ✓ Be published on the S4S website
---	--	--

Work must be original and created by the student(s).

Submit your entry by emailing it to info@sgr.org.uk
 Closing date Friday 4th March 2022